

Touch For Health® Kinesiology

Level 2 with Randall Gibson, M.Ed., LMT, RPP

In this class, you will learn 14 new muscle tests especially helpful for back pain. You will also study acupuncture theory including the law of the five elements, and will begin to understand more about how energy circulates through the body. You will use shortcuts to make your balancing faster and more permanent while learning to recognize and correct potential problems that could interfere with the process. You will also learn about acupuncture holding points, new applications of ESR and advanced methods of pain relief. At the end of this class, you will have begun to truly understand the techniques you practiced in TFHK 1 and will approach the work with new appreciation.

Prerequisite: TFHK Level 1
